Located in Auckland

Hey - I'm Alex. I'm a software engineering student at the University of Auckland. I'm currently pursuing an internship about anything software - whatever that may be. I'm always keen on learning new things and am always trying to grow as a person.

I believe my strong self motivation, discipline and desire to improve will set me apart as an individual, and my teamwork, communication and ability to adapt will allow me to be a beneficial asset to any team.

Skills:

Languages: Java, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, C, MATLAB

Frameworks/Tools: ReactJS, Git, GitHub

Projects:

(Completed April 2023) Weather API project (ReactJS)

source code: <https://github.com/alux444/weather-api-project>

This is a simple weather application that uses API information called from WeatherAPI.com. The image sources are drawn by myself. The closest city to the input will return weather information about that city, otherwise an error message is displayed.

Skills used: ReactJS, HTML, JavaScript, CSS, RapidAPI / WeatherAPI.com

(Completed April 2023) Simple portfolio website (ReactJS)

This is a simple portfolio website I made during the first mid semester break of 2023.

Skills used: ReactJS, HTML, JavaScript, CSS

Occupation(s):

Store Assistant at PaknSave Wairau (January 2022 - Current)

As a store assistant, I am responsible for managing the displays, filling the store, assisting customers and maintaining standards for the shop. I have worked in multiple departments with different people and teams, and frequently work extras where needed.

Customer service, teamwork, communication, adaptability and leadership skills are all soft skills that were crucial to this job, and I believe that I can translate these skills into any field I go into.

Interest(s):*Training:

I'm very passionate about my training and fitness. I have experimented with multiple different types of training, including lifting, calisthenics and parkour. This has helped me build a strong self-motivation, desire to improve myself and a strong discipline. I believe these qualities translate well into both my academic and work life.
